Every big change begins with a small step.

Learning a language is a journey, not a race.